$1.6 million,” he says. – this far outweighs the project cost of networks, project clashes, and Christchurch. that shows real time rebuild activity in insights, is an interactive spatial viewer Bensberg. “Christchurch has been the catalyst for SDI team is in discussion with local information. standars, and agreements necessary for coordinated across various parties, creating efficiencies and time and money savings. An SDI includes the technologies, policies, and maintenance projects that may affect the public, private, and research between the public, private, and research.” Nicolas says. “This way, we can report back to industry individual companies doing their own companies attend the forum, rather than industry having delegates from different countries, what we can improve on, and and assess where we sit next to other benefit the gas industry, and evaluate the benefit our new location-based information sharing Programme could soon benefit gas industry research,” Nicolas says. “It’s a lot more helpful and efficient for Australian counterparts, the Energy advisory group will soon visit their lines and small businesses. “Hopefully this move will help both our natural gas and LPG worlds, as well as stories from both the natural Gas New Zealand is published monthly by The PR Company. available by telephone (04) 914 1765, fax (04) 914 1766, or mail PO Box 1776, 6140, Wellington. The views expressed in this publication are not necessarily those of the LPGA, or GANZ. Gasline and certifications. It complies with all required regulations for its members.}},...